

Your opportunity to get involved in the development of Greater Manchester's Spatial Framework

Stockport MBC is working with the nine other local authorities in Greater Manchester to develop a new spatial framework and the latest stage of work has just been published for consultation.

The Greater Manchester Spatial Framework will support the city-region to make the most of its towns and neighbourhoods and support development to benefit local people. This means supporting our town centres, building new quality homes and attracting businesses.

The Framework will identify the land Greater Manchester needs to meet demand for housing and business development and will help manage the supply of land across the city-region. This will include:

- Determining how many new homes and how much land we need for new jobs over the next 20 years, as well as identify broad locations or areas for development
- Identifying infrastructure (things like transport links and public services) required to support development
- Identifying ways to protect the city-region's green space alongside development so that we develop great places where people want to live, work and visit.

A draft vision and a set of strategic objectives for the Framework have been produced over the last few months. In addition, a number of strategic options have also been developed, these outline a range of land requirements for housing and business over the next twenty years.

Greater Manchester is now welcoming views on the draft vision and strategic objectives for the Framework as well as feedback on the options and the evidence used to produce them. This consultation will run from 9 November to 11 January 2016.

These views will be used to shape the ongoing development of a Draft Framework, which is expected to be completed, ready for consultation, by the end of 2016.
